By Roland LeBlanc

July 23, 1942

A battle group, consisting of mobile formations, will give flank cover in the east and capture the Grozny area and dispatch a force to block the Ossetian and Georgian Army Road in the mountain passes. Thereafter the Baku area will be occupied by a thrust along the Caspian coast.The Army Group can count upon the later commitment of the Italian Alpine Corps.

Victory:

If the Germans occupy with attack-capable units in Trace Supply at the end of the game K20.05, K30.08, K31.10, K32.08, K32.09 and K33.10 they win. The Russians win if any of these hexes are occupied by Russian attack-capable units in any supply state and the Russians control Grozny. Any other result is a draw.

Option 1

Generaloberst von Kleist intended to attack with the majority of the Panzer and Motorized formations along the mountains to the east to reach the Grozny oil region (K 31.08) and block the Georgian Army Road (K20.01) in the area of the city of Ordzhonikidze (K20.05). He wanted to carry along the majority of his Mountain Divisions as part of his 1st Panzer Army and use them to penetrate into the Transcaucasus across the Georgian Army Road. However, Generaloberst von Kleist could not get his plan past OKW (Hitler).

The 49 Mountain Corp with the 1st and 4 Mountain Divisions were instead assigned to 17th Army on August 12, 1942 in preparation for an offensive to take Tuapse.

The Caucasus and the Oil by Wilhelm Tieke

This option assumes that Operation ATTICA will not take place and the Mountain Divisions are sent to the 1st Panzer Army. Allow the 49 Mountain Corps HQ and the 1st and 4th Mtn Div (each less one step) arrive on 15 August 42 (West Map Edge).

In addition if this option is used the German must also capture hex K11.01 in order to win.

Option 2

The OKW planned to drop the 7th Fleiger Div on Grozny in order to support the operation to capture the oilfields; the operation was cancelled in September and the Division was sent to Army Group Center instead. This option gives the German Player the opportunity to bring the 7th Fleiger Div into the game.

At the beginning of the scenario the German Player has the 7th Fleiger Div at his disposal (1, 3, 4 Flg Rgt) and 4x Ju.52.

If the German Player ever has any attack-capable German unit in trace supply at or within two hexes of either hex of Grozny, the 7th Fleiger arrives in the next German Reinforcement Phase.

If this option is used the German Player must also capture hex K38.01 in order to win.

Options are cumulative; if Options 1 and 2 are combined the German Player must fulfill all of the Victory conditions (basic scenario and optionals) in order to win.

Russian Information:

Reserve Markers Available: 2

Reinforcements: None (see below)

Special Reinforcements:

The 24 Tank Corps (4 Gd, 54 Tank Bde, 24 Mtrd Inf Bde) was a Southern Front reserve that historically was not committed to the battle.

If any German unit moves north of the Donets east of the Oskol (A40.08) OR moves east of A48.xx, even if South of the Donets, the Russian player can place the 24 Tank Corps fueled in any friendly hex(es) east of A40.xx, together with a loaded 1SP Truck. This placement can be done at the beginning of any friendly movement segment, and entitles the 24 Tank Corps to act in that phase, even if reaction or exploitation.

The 24 Tank Corps can be brought into play, normally, in any reinforcement phase after the first turn (without being fueled and without the truck) for a cost of 2 VPs, placed in A52.00.

Rebuilds: None

Incoming SPs: 4 per turn at any map edge rail hex east of the at-start frontline.

Supply Sources: Any map edge rail hex east of the at-start frontline.

Massive Assaults Available: 0

Special: All Russian artillery barrages made by during the first turn's Combat Phase are free. All Russian combats during the first turn cost half (1/2 T for unit or RE).

This is a game covering only the drive into the deep south.

Map Area: Case Blue (all)

Note: Players can forego most of Map F to save space. The campaign will not unfold there and the units on Map F will soon be going to Leningrad. Map F's area around the Kerch Straits can be included, by folding the map, so the local air bases are in play.

There is no Main Effort/Schwerpunkt for either side in this scenario.
